Please note that there is no exact equivalence between teachers-students as simply shown above. Some teachers were studied with for only a few months. Some students undertook a full formal apprenticeship program, some studied under their teachers during one or more workshops or in years of club settings, some may have been strongly inspired by the writings/sayings and/or works/compositions of their teachers.

(a) after a teacher's name indicates that the student is known to have been considered an apprentice of that teacher. The number after the "a" indicates the number of years the apprenticeship occurred.

It is not our intention to give the impression that each of these teachers was equally proficient or that each of the students was equally responsive to each teacher. And, obviously, many students had more than three significant teachers. We are, to an extent, repeating here in a consolidated fashion what many of these persons have already reported. This Lineage is humbly presented to give a sketch of what some of our relationships have been.

We also have a separate list of prominent teachers for whom we have not yet found any reference to their teachers or students. We will include them in the above listing at such time as we learn of their lineage. These teachers/artists include Morten Albek, Koji Amakawa, David Andrews, German Arellano, Mrs Rupan Deol Bajaj, Sergio Biagi, José Luis Blasco Paz, Fr. Yet, even the most independent of artists, no matter how self-taught they are, share the same basic materials and conditions that we all do: a set pool of plants \(http://www.magiminiland.org/BigPicture/BPAIndex.html\) which require some forms of regular water, light, air movement, added nutrients; some form of containers to hold or support the plants and their growing medium and, thus, define the plants' dimensions; some shaping by pruning or pinching, or restricting by wire or other devices to affect the plants' growth over a period of time; some styling to achieve a representation of the lines of known full-size plant growth, whether it is "natural" to that particular plant or not; the ability to visualize a promising future in the balance and beauty of the plant; the subtle interplay of plant health and growth, symbiotes, pathogens, microclimate, artist skill, protection from extremes, accidents, and other factors. Books, videos, websites, teachers, club members, students, and viewers all provide variations, ideas, and feedback to this commonly experienced foundation.
